

"Amdahl gives sound, practical advice for writers of all levels of experience, and he augments his pearls of wisdom with laugh-out-loud quips. This work reminded me why I got into writing in the first place. Joy Writing is a joy to read." Leslie O'Kane, author and screenwriter. Her latest book is Fatal Feng Shui.

"In this little gem of a how-to, Amdahl offers the same advice I give my students. The book provides sound information on technique and making your work professional. A must for beginners or anyone who "takes joy" in writing." Barbara Steiner, author and writing teacher. Her latest book is Cry of the Loon, an American Girl mystery.

"Amdahl's advice comes delightfully lightened with wit and humor. His book equips would-be authors with ignition and saves them needlessly spinning their wheels." Reg Saner, poet, professor, winner of the Wallace Stegner Award and the first Walt Whitman Award. His latest book is The Dawn Collector.

"I am happy and honored to be included in Joy Writing." George Garrett, author, poet, screenwriter, professor, and founding member of the Association of Writers and Writing Programs.

"What a terrific idea! I hope Joy Writing inspires a whole generation of authors!" Edward Ormondroyd, author of David and the Phoenix.

"Joy Writing is a joy to read: full of wisdom, pithy advice, and one essential reminder—that writing is pointless when it ceases to be fun." Francine Mathews (aka Stephanie Barron), author. Her latest book is A Flaw in the Blood.

Kenn Amdahl is the author of There Are No Electrons: Electronics for Eartlings; Algebra Unplugged (with Jim Loats, Ph.D.); The Land of Debris and the Home of Alfredo; Roses in Pencil; Stones (poetry); and Calculus for Cats (with Jim Loats, Ph.D.).

$12.95

Joy Writing

Kenn Amdahl

Joy Writing

Discover and Develop
Your Creative Voice

Kenn Amdahl

